

Side view

top view

BREATHING

Dying Robot

Disoriented by polluted air, the robot gasps for breath — its survival hanging in the balance. Also inspired by bioluminescent sea creatures, it pulses with light when approached, a fragile warning to keep distance. It is not hostile — only desperate.